

Your rights regarding personal data

You have the following rights regarding your personal data:

You have the right to know why your personal data is needed, what will happen to it and how long it will be kept.

Right of access: You have the right to access your personal data that is known to us.

Right to rectification: You have the right to add, correct, delete or block your personal data whenever you want.

If you give us your consent to process your data, you have the right to withdraw this consent and have your personal data deleted.

The right to transfer your data: You have the right to request all your personal data from the administrator and transfer them in their entirety to another administrator.

Right to object: you can object to the processing of your data. We follow this if there are no legitimate reasons for processing.

To exercise these rights, please contact us. Please see the contact details at the bottom of this cookie statement. If you have a complaint about how we handle your data, we would like to hear about it, but you also have the right to lodge a complaint with a supervisory authority (Office for Personal Data Protection).

9. Enabling/disabling and removing cookies

You can delete cookies automatically or manually using your internet browser. You can also specify that some cookies may not be placed. Another option is to change the settings of your internet browser so that a message is displayed every time a cookie file is saved. For more information about these options, see your browser's Help.

Please note that our website may not function properly if all cookies are disabled. If you delete cookies in your browser, they will be placed again after your consent when you visit our website again.
